my better half is leaving this weekend to head home and see some friends before we head to the beach this week (shes a teacher so she doesnt have to work) I'm definitely going to get out late to hit the hatches. Tonight im going to tie some caddis and maybe do some sulphers and drakes if i can make it to the shop friday for some supplies oh and nick im getting the hang of the tying quick, i just hope it carries onto other flies. ill put up a pick of my first
