I don't doubt a 10 inch brookie, because I've seen the size of some of the browns that are wild in that stream!!!!

Yep. But they are fickle in the project. I've caught and seen native brookies on one trip only to return a month or so later and catch or see none. That doesn't mean they aren't there, it's just catching them seems to be hit or miss... UNLESS you fish outside of the project.
