I take it ferrence is that little closed road there??? That guy used to let people fish that honeyhole there, I think a large tree fell and turned up the roots and its real deep. Then I remember one trout day there were people camped there with a fire and tons o trash afterward. It started being heavily posted after that I think. I've never been bounced from there though, I'm short though and tend to crouch when I fish a bank like that so maybe he just never sees me ha. Been a year or two since I've been to tollgate though. Now I wanna go try those ladder things out haha.
