I was fishing a green weenie earlier in the year, got caught on a submerged rock, it let loose and I came back with mine, 2 other green weenies and a glo bug. It was a junk fly extravaganza!

My best claim to fame was steelhead fishing a few years back. A buddy of mine had a tandem nymph set up that the whole thing was lost on a fish. I told him that I'd get it back for him. I cast towards the fish about 10 times, got a "hookset" and it came back at me within a few seconds. Had his whole setup back in less than 2 minutes from when I said I would.
