I would couple the already recognized distinction between other forms of fishing and fly fishing with a desire to slow things down, make them mental enjoy your surroundings.

I couldn't care less how one likes to fish, but have always been more intrigued by the typical fly fishing locations more so than the typical bass location.

I like streams, and though bass sometimes occupy rivers and larger streams, they are most plentiful in slower, deeper and sometime still waters.

Enjoy both, if you still can.
