

Subject: : Warm Water & Salt Water Fly-Fishing

Topic: : White Fly Watch

White Fly Watch

Author: : albatross

Date: : 2008/8/3 0:25:05

URL:

I hit Slippery Rock Creek tonight on the DHALO section. The White Flies started coming off about 8:30PM, but the smallies are not taking them yet. I would think the bite will be on some time this coming week.

I did manage a large sucker earlier in the evening on a san juan worm. I briefly hooked one smallie on a black leach, but lost him. I saw no other anglers tonight from 6:30 to 9:30 PM.

The creek lived up to its name. I slid across a large rock and tumbled into the creek.