Agreed. I think it's a bit too early to call it a bust.

That said, I think expectations might have been a bit skewed to begin with. Many of the counties in PA with some of the best trout streams are not expected to see this brood.

I still think the potential for spectacular cicada fishing lies ahead.

Unfortunately, I'm worried I might miss it, as I'm gone half of June and July. Then again, I've missed virtually everything else this season, so why not.
