I'm game. I fished ponds all last year with poppers and didn't even target trout. This year its been mostly drys for trout. That's about to change though. I'm in the middle of PMing a guy on here trying to get a 4/5 weight for bassin. I broke/lost two rods this year so far and all I have right now is a 6'6" 3 weight or so. I've thrown a popper or two with it already but it's a bit of a pain ha.

Tell your brother to hit me up next time you two are going out man, he's got my number. I'll try and secure that rod in the meantime.
