

Subject: : Gear Talk

Topic: : 10' rods - 4 and 5 weights

Re: 10' rods - 4 and 5 weights

Author: : krayfish

Date: : 2013/6/10 21:06:07

URL:

That's what I got for tossing big nymph rigs. It does a good job. I don't know that I'd want to dry fly cast it for extended periods. The swingweight seems a bit heavy. I don't think you'll see much balance provided by the fighting butt. Remember that that rod is fairly stiff / fast and you'll want to use a line that's heavier....gpx, grand or gold. I have a 5 weight with 6wt Rio Gold on it. Tried the 5wt line and felt the 6 went further and loaded the rod easier.