Anything I should know more specific to the Letort or Big Spring? My only "limestoner" experience has been on Spring Creek, and from what I know the Letort and Big Spring are much different and tougher. I'm up for the challenge though!

Yes, they're a different game. Personally, I don't think the fish are more selective than Spring Creek trout but they are tougher to present a fly to (esp Letort) due to weeds and very tall meadow grass. You should pay 'em a visit if for no other reason than that they're such a rich part of the PA FFing heritage.

Breeches, however, has a similar look and feel as Spring Creek. Take a look at the many threads here and in Stream Reports for more info on Letort and BS as they have been extensively asked about and discussed.
