

Subject: : Fly Tying

Topic: : Gaining Skill

Re: Gaining Skill

Author: : Fishidiot

Date: : 2013/6/10 21:57:45

URL:

Quote:

FrequentTyer wrote:

It is good to see that you are tying, and are thinking creatively about your flies. But one month is probably too soon to be developing new patterns. I suggest picking some standard patterns that you know work on the streams you fish. Keep tying them until they are consistent and look like pictures you see on the net, or better like samples you got from the fly shop. I know its boring, but it is the only way I know to master the basic fundamentals, and that gives you the tools to be creative.

Keep tying,

Mike.

Some good advice here.

Nice tie nevertheless - have fun and keep at it.