Alright, I don't always look like a slob when fishing. I cleaned myself up for the steelhead trip last year. Here I am looking the part, and note the expensive looking split bamboo rod.

But I assure you that I have less than 100 bucks into that rod not counting labor, and both legs of those waders leaked giving me the feel of wet wading.

GG took the picture, and I have to admit I look good. As it turns out, I did replace the vest.
