I have a big bulky vest like the one pictured, what the heck is wrong with that??? Can't fit too many beers in a manpurse ya know.

I've never been crowded out of a hole either. Course when I see someone getting close I quickly change to my second favorite water activity.....skipping stones. I guess no one ever taught me the proper stone skipping etiquette though, how many meters should I be from fisherman when going for my new record of distance/skips??

Lets be honest here though. Ya made a thread to complain about littering and crowding bait fisherman. They aren't all like that.....hell most of em are too drunk to wander anymore than 3 feet from their camp chair ;)
