

Subject: : Paflyfish General Forum

Topic: : Looking for a cabin

Re: Looking for a cabin

Author: : BeastBrown

Date: : 2013/6/12 0:17:58

URL:

Quote:

SBecker wrote:

Quote:

BeastBrown wrote:

Snow Shoe? Pretty sure a state forest ranger told me that Moshannon State Forest was slated to get fraced up. Dunno though.

Might want to push them to the Delaware river, lol, if they are willing to go all the way to State College, why not the other way too, haha.

In your area, near Carbon and lower Lackawanna are some very peaceful areas around the Lackawanna State Forest area and down past the FEW. Not as much prime fishing as central Pa, but very peaceful areas for relaxation.

Nah I would prefer to keep them heading out to State College. Plus, there is thoughts in my family of moving out to the area anyways for a teaching position. This causes my parents to want to stay close to the grand kids. What better then having a separate place nearby to visit. If we do not move out there for work, at least I will have a place to stay and eventually willed to me.

That is some long term planning there, haha, hopefully you don't have a sister named Tiffany or Heather that gets it....always the Tiffanys and Heathers man...