thus competition....I knew you had a competitive side to ya.

Last year (October) when I was at Salmon River - I think most of us were about 20 feet from each other casting to the same Giants coming upstream. I even helped a person net his hooked salmon (with his own net - mine was to small).

I didn't take home any cause the salmon were doing hook and release with me. At that point I realized "I'm going to need a bigger net!"
