

---

Subject: : Paflyfish General Forum

Topic: : Denver question

Re: Denver question

Author: : streamerguy

Date: : 2013/6/12 11:33:14

URL:

I made a trip out to Colorado last summer and was able to get a good amount of fishing in. x3 for RMNP, but it's not exactly close to Denver. Where I was at around Denver it was a 2hr drive to Estes Park, and a 3hr drive on the way back with traffic. I highly recommend it though for the scenery and the fishing.

Other closer options to Denver are Boulder Creek, South Boulder Creek, and Clear Creek. There could be others but those were the ones I fished. Fishing was very good for mostly wild browns with a bow or two mixed in. All of those are around 40min to an hour from Denver. Can't help you with places to stay, I stayed at a hotel in Aurora which isn't a good base camp for fishing. Have fun!