Haha, Opossum eyes do work great on the bigger bugs.

Lv2nymph, sorry I missed the question when I read your post. I used to use head cement but now I use softex on the collar and belly. It takes longer to dry but I have foam pipe insulators stuck on the arm of my lamp that I stick them to and let them dry. Most of my tying is done at night (often the night before I am leaving for a trip haha) so they are good to go when I wake up in the morning.
