CPR is right that access point has been finished for months.

I drove past it last week, but it was still closed.

Although there was a truck with a boat trailer down there - guess he was tired of the signs.

The only problem I see with that access area is that it is only on one side of the highway, so if you are travelling west on 322 you have to go to Lewistown, turn around and head back. Or, if you are heading east to have to go like 7 miles down the road to the next exit to come back.
