The weather looks mighty nice for tomorrow, June 15th, for the annual PA Fly Fishing Museum Association Heritage Day at Allenberry pavilion. Entrance fee of $8 (kids free) gets you in to see and purchase a lot of neat stuff, esp if you like old fishing gear and books. While you're there, you can walk up and visit the newly opened museum. Proceeds from this show benefit the museum. Come show 'em some support. The creek is just a few feet away and should fish well in the evening.

Here's a report from last year's show: Heritage Day 2012
