The access problem at Rattin Run is because of 2 issues, first is that landowners are fed up with hikes trashing the area. The second is that the Co-op hatchery that was in-active for years is now active again, and they are a landowner on Rattin Run. I just hope they aren't stocking Rattin Run.

I was there about two months ago and was at the old hatchery. There were no hatchery trout in the dam. I don't know where you heard that, but I think someone gave you bad information. I could be wrong if they started doing that after I was there.
