

Subject: : Beginner Forum

Topic: : Flyrod Selection

Re: Flyrod Selection

Author: : jdaddy

Date: : 2013/6/14 17:32:52

URL:

You have your 5 weight so you have a lot of situations covered. Hoppers, articulated streamers, nymphing can all easily be handled by a 9'6" 6 wt even in moderate wind conditions. And wind will be your biggest need for a 6 wt as wind is very, very common. Actually adverse weather in general. It has hailed golf ball size hail, in multiple swaths, for the last 3 days in Bozeman. Oh, ya and it is currently snowing in higher elevations around Bozeman. Oh and flooding. And of course raining. You get the point. Weather is a key factor.

Frankly it sounds like you have a solution. You like the Streamflex, it's reasonably priced. I think the 9'6" 6 wt would be just about perfect, especially if fishing from a drift boat.

Have fun. I'll be out there right behind ya for about 10 days. Can't wait!