I have been to Switzerland six times bicycle touring, hiking, cross country skiing, and Alpine skiing. Naturally, given my profession and fishing interest I have discussed fishing with a very outdoors oriented Swiss friend. Bottom line...fishing is highly restrictive in comparison to the US. I was even told that at my time of inquiry you could only fish on certain days of the week. Fishing was quite expensive for residents. Unlike in other European countries, I never saw anyone fishing in Switzerland. Can't say if that is the situation now. I recommend hiking for the true Swiss experience; every bend in the trail presents a new post card like scene.
