Just beautiful. Those are the type of trips I dream about. Gotta love PA.

And regarding vista burning, my philosophy is to name them, but name a bunch of them, as to spread out the viewer traffic and not draw focus on any individual one. It's good to let people know just how many vistas we have, too many people only go to the famous ones and don't realize just how much viewing is available. This leads to more knowledgable vista goers, which are the best conservationists. Vista's need friends.
