Yup, Big Slate Drakes and Slate Drakes (or Hexes and Isos) are two completely different hatches. Up north in the ADK's and New England the Hex hatch is a big deal on many lakes and ponds (and in the ADK's they only have one brood for the Isos- the fall hatch.) I've never caught the Hex hatch up north or here in PA but my favorite hatch around here is definitely the Slate Drake (Iso) hatch- both spring and fall broods.
