Soon? I'm already eyeing my wife's work schedule and making plans to go on "adventures". It's a rough week at work for me, so with my bosses grace, I have Friday off and I'm going to explore the creek above Laurel Hill. I'm not certain about the designations for the creeks, so that's something I'm going to need to learn.

I blame my buddy Wayne. If it weren't for his poor eye sight, I wouldn't have to hear about leaving my Hares mask laying on my workbench...
