

Subject: : Paflyfish General Forum

Topic: : Fly Line Backing Install

Re: Fly Line Backing Install

Author: : McSneek

Date: : 2013/6/20 19:21:32

URL:

Quote:

jdaddy wrote:

Think about this. Imagine the lucky day a fish takes you a hundred yards into the backing. The shops not going to be there to put it back on! lol. Find something/someone to put some tension on the backing spool and you are good to go.

Lucky day - first and only bonefish I've had the thrill to catch. I could see my spool before I got him turned around. Eventually landed him. My second hookup had no trouble peeling off just as much backing and I was just about able to land him before the hook popped.

Don't overcomplicate backing.