Way cool. I know a stream in SC PA that has a similar old small impoundment on it...maybe a little smaller than the ones in your pics. It too has nice Brookies in it. Word of warning...don't ever try to step out into these old impoundments to try to get a little more room for a cast, especially by yourself...learned that one the hard way and just about lost a hip boot in the process. Luckily my father in law was with me and was able to help pull me out of the silt suction.

There's gotta be Browns around there somewhere...congrats on the Tigers!
