Thanks paco. I've yet to target muskies, but it's on the list. don't know if I'll get to it this year or not. Have tried my hand at a few musky flies already though, so it's coming.

I think greenghost is referring to the striped bass getting you into your backing. That's a fish I have yet to target on the fly too. I've caught some in the river systems on spinner gear before, but none on the fly yet. It's a must IMO, sooner than later.
