Also any one that will be there against having thier photo posted on here let me know and ill shy away from shooting you. That is if I get my camera gear out. If im actually catching fish it may not come out. But by my fishing averages ill be shooting some photos lol.

That is probably the most respectful thing I have ever read on this forum. I wish other people would be as kind as you in that area. Unfortunately with Facebook, Twitter and other social media, people feel they have the right to post video and pics with no discrimination. It's quite discerning.
