

Subject: : Paflyfish General Forum

Topic: : Interesting Study

Re: Interesting Study

Author: : geebee

Date: : 2013/6/21 17:23:36

URL:

I think trout are different to char - brown trout will spawn with Atlantic Salmon and hence the worries in Europe about stockies degrading wild runs; and bows spawn with cutts as we know.

Char are a bit different due to genetics or environment. I don't think brookies and lakers/togue interbreed much either.

In the Cape Cod study, sea run brookies from the Sandwich hatchery had 0% genetic effect on the wild stocks in the quashnet and child's rivers, that's why they stopped stocking over the wild fish.