How old is pretty old? Your getting correct answers all around (ignoring the composition of pennies and tribulations of princes ). CC will give you a number that will correspond to the rod design, but you might hate the resulting way the rod behaves with that line weight. The age of the rod may also factor in since line weights and preferences "evolve." I would run the CC calculation just as a learning experience, but wouldn't buy a line until I cast it with a few possibilities.
