

Subject: : Fly Fishing Locations

Topic: : North Carolina, Asheville area

Re: North Carolina, Asheville area

Author: : DRFAS

Date: : 2013/6/24 23:03:49

URL:

Returned from trip to Asheville/Charlotte NC this evening.. Bad news/good news.. Bad: fractured two ribs 3 days before trip.. Good: Was still able to make the trip and get ONE day in fishing on the Davidson River, Pisgah National Forest, just outside Brevard NC.. What a beautiful stream.. First cast, (with pain) a native Brown slammed my beaded nymph.. All pain was instantly a feint memory.. Thought I died and went to heaven.. 45 minutes later and rib pain no longer a "memory", another Brownie took a Light Cahill on top.. That was all she wrote for me.. Try as I may the damn ribs got the best of me but my short lived experience was well worth it... Chatted with quite a few other fisherman that were from all points of the East and most had less succes that day than me, the crippled PA visitor, so I "mentally" felt better hearing that..

Bottom line... Great experience, more trout streams than I could ever fish in a few days so I will return and hopefully with ribs intact..

FAS