Welp, a stated secondary purpose of the project is recreation. This for years has mainly meant the inlake fishery and the downstream rafting interests. Just lately, within the last 10 years or so since the road was moved there has been more priority than ever before on the downstream fishery - because water CAN be stored up to the 15% encroachment of the flood storage without inundating that stupid road.

Regardless, management of that reservoir imo can no doubt be better. And honestly that needs to come from the anglers who for lack of a better phrase need to bltch and moan, so that the PFBC can make recommendations. The Corps won't listen to a non profit, but have said they will take instructions from the PFBC.
