Sulphurs were coming off sporadically. I wouldn't say there was really a hatch and I was getting trouts on a light tan bead head hare's ear. Water was cold as always and there were five anglers on the stream on Sunday. Jdaddy cursed the sun later in the day as we had started out with some clouds and light rain. Trout were had immediately upon arrival. Apparently my crayfish pattern took some trout. I had no success with the craysih on Sunday. My hares ears have a bit of a buggy soft hackle look to them and they are usually money.

I guess I'm not being fair. Wouldn't be a proper stream report without a wild brown pic.
