Those are the rails, you're missing the crossbars.

Its not like the JGC is rare bird, goto a You-Pull-It yard and find a set. Factory crossbars don't hold as much weight as good aftermarket bars do, but they'll hold this thing with no issue.

Option #2 is to watch craigslist. You can either use a set that was sold for the GC or figure out what adapters you need from Yakima or Thule, and then in turn use those adapters to hold the appropriate style of cross bar (vendor specific).
