Sorry for the newbie question but how long do you need to hold one of the thermometers in the water?
Should I leave for 30 seconds? A minute?

I bought one similar to the Orvis one posted, but off-brand..

Thanks!Quote:

$11.95 and one of the most functional tools I own... A stream thermometer is cheap and a good way to make sure you're fishing water that isn't too warm!

I leave mine in a stream long enough to get what I feel is an accurate reading, probably a minute, then give it a shake and leave it in the water probably another 30 seconds.
