Not that I mind talking about tricos at all but let's get this back on track. Next Friday I'll start listing attendees and what they will be bringing for our event. Please look at your calendar and let me know via PM (no sense posting everything here) if you are definite/tentative and what'd you'd like to bring. As we get closer I'll post a so called final count to make sure everyone brings enough for all.

To give you an idea, last year we had someone bring coffee, donuts and start your day things while others brought picnic type food and supplies.

I am really looking forward to this event again this year as last year's was a blast. Not the best fishing but great weather and fantastic people!
