Thanks for the suggestions; I dug up a bunch of info about St. Mary's after posting, including the helicopter lime sand dumps. Wilderness status makes doing that type of rehab work and fighting wildfires interesting..

We had to postpone our trip until possibly early fall, since my brother did not get the weekend off that he wanted and I am already planning to be out of town the weekend he did get off.

WV is definitely interesting to me but we are looking at something that we can do in 2.5 days or less (including travel to and back).
