

Subject: : Fly Tying

Topic: : a few dry flies

Re: a few dry flies

Author: : gfen

Date: : 2013/6/28 9:04:16

URL:

If I haven't used snowshoe fur, then its been Superfine. I've got a couple packs of beaver I've inherited from someone, and the Superfine is superior in every way I can tell.

I've always been under the assumption it was polypropylene, and thus inherently hydrophobic.

Its also very easy to use due to the fiber length and thinness, so you're able to actually see the base colour and not glob it on.