

Subject: : Paflyfish General Forum

Topic: : CDC Trico Comparadun

Re: CDC Trico Comparadun

Author: : Foxgap239

Date: : 2013/6/28 10:10:19

URL:

Quote:

gutcutter wrote:

Sometimes the selective big boys want something with a more natural profile, especially once the hatch has finished and there are only spinners on the water. This fly has taken my largest fish in multiple states during trico spinnerfalls.

It floats better and has a better profile than any synthetic can give.

Thanks for this post. Strangely enough, I was thinking about tying some of these up tonight and now that I have a testimonial to their effectiveness, I will make it a point to do so. Question, do you clip the wing and then figure 8 or figure 8 and clip each side separately?

I'm not sure who PM'd me about this pattern last year but if it was you, many thanks. I love it.