

Subject: : Beginner Forum

Topic: : Need to vent...another one got away.

Re: Need to vent...another one got away.

Author: : bigslackwater

Date: : 2013/6/28 10:58:11

URL:

Thanks for the words of encouragement everyone...I'm not too disappointed now. I hope to get another shot at it before it gets too warm...If not I'll try again in the fall. On the bright side I've learned that there are really big fish in a place that seemed very unproductive in the past. It might be time that I revisit all the places I've chalked up as unproductive. I guess I'm getting better.

One thing that really improved my results was fishing upstream. In the past I've always worked my way down stream and across. This time I moved slowly one step at a time and worked my way up. It's a tough creek because there is no banks to travel.. It's thick vegetation on both sides through the best parts.