

Subject: : Warm Water & Salt Water Fly-Fishing

Topic: : Muskie spots

Re: Muskie spots

Author: : jeremymcon

Date: : 2013/6/29 12:37:52

URL:

I recently fished Lake Ontelaunee with my dad, and he was telling me about how when he was younger he and a friend of his used to catch muskie at a spot they know on the lake. He didn't take me there, because we weren't equipped for muskie, so I couldn't even tell you what part of the lake it was. He did say that it wasn't under the smaller bridge that crosses over the lake... and it's not the one popular area that's covered with lily pads. He said he had to walk in a little way from the road to get to the spot.

We actually didn't do so well that day... we did start at like 10 am and leave around 2 though (schedule problems). I'm told there are bass in there, and apparently an overabundance of white perch, but we saw nothing but sunnies.