I've used a Peak vise acquired from the Swap Forum here about a year ago and am pleased with it. My only complaint is that the vertical shaft is shorter than what I was accustomed to (it's about 8"). I tie on a small table that sits in my lap and so had to design a small extension to get the jaws of the vise up to the height I'm comfortable with. If the Anvil has a longer shaft, you may wish to consider this. Otherwise, the Peak works well for me and I'm a heavy tier of all sizes from midges to big salt.
