

---

Subject: : Fly Fishing Locations

Topic: : Laurel hill state park

Laurel hill state park

Author: : Transporter4781

Date: : 2013/7/1 17:07:29

URL:

Headed to Laurel Hill State park (stream) to drop in some flies but I'm concerned about the water temp. I have heard it is warming up fast. With that said, how will that effect the hatches and what should be used? At least to start with then once I there I'd tie something to match. Just curious how the water temp will mess with the typical hatch there.