I can hear that drag singing.

It sounded even better on that old Cortland click & pawl on that 6wt.

Then I noticed the 6" smallie following behind it...absolutely grubbing out on whatever the carp was kicking up. I'm sure it's common. But I had never seen it before...thought that was pretty cool.

Smallies aren't the only ones that are opportunistic. I've already watched pods of Carp follow flocks of feeding geese up and down the creek eating what they stir up.
