Try Clark's Classic Fly Rod Forum.

F.E. Thomas is a desirable maker but being a 9 foot rod, it is not a desirable length. That length was fairly common even before graphite but the shorter lengths are lighter and were generally less common, thus making them more desirable.

If all of the pieces are of equal length, that would be a major plus. Its hard to tell in your pictures.

You'll find more specific info on Clarcks.

Hope that gives you a start.
