here is the easiest way i found to put on the micro split shot that was found in the link:
place your lowest fly on the hook holder and tight the line so your rod bends and the line has a lot of tension.
now its depending on flow but i have only ever used the first 3 smallest and often double up. i place them in my mouth, i pop the first out and place it on my finger with the slit facing up and push it up on the line and the tension holds it dwon and i then bite it, repeat that process i still lose a few but it is signifantly easier
