I started with a kit from cabelas, it was ok but small ammounts of materials are provided to keep you coming back for more. My advice on a kit would be to call or go on line to fly fishers paradise or www.flyfishersparadiseonline.com steve is a great resource and is has a couple books worth of knowledge in his head. Their kit has materials you wil actually use and a healthy supply of them, not a 1" x 1" chunk of deer hair like the cabelas kits. Just my 2 cents.

Tight lines and be prepared to blow a lot of money over time on materials.
