I have one for winter that has a fleece neck collar. It works great and protects me from the cold and wind. I also have a Simms one that was gifted to me by NickR. I wear it during the heat and never seem to notice it on. Only time I actually put it up is if the bugs are bad or if I am floating. Usually on a creek I am protected by some kind of shade, but on a boat you are getting direct sunlight and reflection off the water. The Simms one is outrageous in price and would I never purchase it. However, a $20 buff is not too bad.
