Kearcher creek would be an ok place to catch bluegill and maybe some bass. I was there a couple weeks ago, though, and it was really weedy along the bank, which made it pretty tough to get to any fish.

I had a little luck with bluegill at lake ontelaunee too, and it was a lot less weedy.

I really don't regret catcing bluegill at a local quarry when I first started out - I think fishing a trout stream right away would have been frustrating. Plus you can find bluegill just about anywhere, which is nice.
